

Something AMAZING happened one Easter day on Farmer Brown's farm. When the Easter bunny came last night he dropped an Easter egg in the back yard. When Farmer Brown woke up he looked out his window and did his morning stretch. "OH MY! OH DEAR WHAT HAPPENED HERE?" said Farmer Brown. "A Easter egg is growing in my back yard. A big one too. It is very colorful. I wish I could have it for a decoration," said Farmer Brown. So Farmer Brown went outside and pulled on the Easter egg but it would not come out. Farmer Brown called his neighbor over to help. They pulled and pulled but they could not get it out. So they called Farmer Brown's cat to help. They pulled and pulled but they could not get it out. So they called Farmer Brown's pet mouse to help. They pulled and pulled but they could not get it out. So Farmer Brown called his dog to help. They pulled and pulled. AND THEY GOT IT OUT!
